ADDITIONAL FLEET

More Warships To Be Built

INTERNATIONAL OBLIGATIONS

London, July 9. In connection with the additional provision now made for the Navy, the following additions to new warship construction have already been approved and announced: two 5,000 tons cruisers, mine destroyers, one aircraft carrier and four submarines. This brings the total of new construction for 1936 in the above categories and the capital ships to two battleships which will be equipped with 14-inch guns, seven cruisers, of which two of 10,000 tons, will be built in the present calendar year under the existing Naval Treaty of 1930 and five of 5,000 tons; 18 destroyers, two aircraft carriers which will be ordered but not necessarily completed this year and eight submarines, all under the terms of the 1936 London Naval Treaty.

INTERNATIONAL OBLIGATIONS
The supplementary estimate is important as showing the firm intention of the British Government to implement their declared policy of providing the necessary means of "both of safeguarding ourselves against aggression and of playing our part in the enforcement of common action of international obligations."

It is abundantly clear from the fact that the second supplementary Navy estimate has been introduced so soon after the first, not only that policy of making good deficiencies is rapidly gathering volume, but also that there is great potentiality for increase in future should circumstances require it.

Although it is proposed to release certain units temporarily attached to the Mediterranean fleet to the Home station and stations abroad, it is the intention to maintain the strength in the Mediterranean at somewhat higher level than formerly. Movements contemplated are considered desirable from the point of view of fleet administration and giving of overdue leave.

SEVEN READY

In reply to a question in the House of Commons, the First Lord of the Admiralty, Sir Samuel Hoare said seven battleships and battle cruisers are at present in every way ready for sea with full peace complements and one is now commissioned for trials after completing large repairs. Seven others are either undergoing modernisation or large repairs or are refitting, manned by reduced crews of performing training services but of these seven, all but three can be made ready for sea at short notice if required.

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES

London, July 9. Supplementary estimates issued to-day bring the total expenditure on Britain's fighting services for the current year to £188,163,700. To-day's supplementaries include £11,700,000 for Air services, £6,600,000 for Army, £1,859,000 for Navy and £293,000 for Army Royal Ordnance factories, but the total for the year given above also includes £10,300,000 supplementary estimate for the navy published on April 28.

THE ARMY EXPENSES

London, July 9. New expenditure of £3,600,000 for the Army includes provision for additional charges in respect of the programme for remedying Army deficiencies and special measures taken in connection with the Italo-Abyssinian dispute including cost of maintaining troops away from their normal stations and the present Palestine emergency.

MORE FOR THE DEFENCES

London, July 9. It is recalled that the Chancellor of the Exchequer provided £20,000,000 in the budget for defence supplementary estimates. These already amount to £29,350,000.

MORE EXPENSES FOR AIR FORCE

PAYMENTS TO BE MADE LATER.

London, July 9. The increased provision for the Royal Air Force brings the estimated expenditure on that service this year to £50,700,000 which is £24,715,000 more than the net estimate for 1935/36. New expenditure is necessary to implement the policy foreshadowed in the White Paper of March 3 which contemplated increase of "first time aircraft-at home to about 1,750 excluding the Fleet Air Arm."

Overseas units comprising 25 squadrons with strength of approximately 270 first time aircraft will be increased by 12 squadrons by 1939. In addition the present estimate provides for bringing the maximum personnel of air force this year up to 55,000, an increase of 5,000 on the original total. Of the total estimate, £8,055,000 is payments likely to mature before March 31 as a result of the policy of longterm orders for large numbers of airframes and engines and auxiliary equipment and stores. This includes progress payments on aircraft equipment and stores which will not be delivered until 1937 and 1938. Much heavier provision for bulk of cost of this programme will, it is stated, have to be made in these later years.

TO PROTECT FOOD SUPPLY

DEBATE IN COMMONS

London, July 9. A debate was raised in the House of Lords of the need for securing adequate food supply in the event of war. It was recalled that the Minister for Co-ordination of Defence had said that sub-committee, under his chairmanship was examining all aspects of food supply, in the time of emergency but importance was urged by speakers of stimulating food production and provision of granaries for storing wheat.

Lord Chancellor replying for the Government reminded the House that without control of seas and air they could not preserve safety of goods stored in this country. Therefore the primary purpose of Government's policy must be to see that they were adequately prepared against attacks and to give adequate protection to imports.

PLENTY OF RAIN IN ENGLAND

SPORTS PROGRAMME CANCELLED

London, July 9. Rain was general through England to-day and in the London area there were torrential downpours which interfered with all outdoor fixtures. Rain was so heavy that it became necessary to cancel the full programme for inspection of the second battalion of the Coldstream Guards by the King. After battalion had marched past, the men were dismissed. The King inspected the party of Old Comrades of the battalion who stood bareheaded in the rain.

Flooding occurred in several parts of London including a portion of the basements of the House of Commons. Owing to the flooded condition of the neighbouring streets there was exceptionally acute traffic jam in Trafalgar Square.

In five county cricket matches in various parts of the country no ball could be bowled.

CAUSE YET UNKNOWN

London, July 9. The explosion which occurred yesterday at the Woolwich Arsenal was the subject of a question in the House of Commons. Replying, War Minister Duff Cooper said the disaster occurred when an experiment was in progress regarding the filling of a high explosive shell. The cause of the explosion was in the course of investigation and a court of inquiry had been convened. The buildings involved was in a special danger area. Although it was completely wrecked, other activities of the research department of the Royal Arsenal had not been interfered with.

ENGINEERING AND BUILDING

SPEED ACCELERATIONS ON THE LONDON MIDLAND AND SCOTTISH RAILWAY

On Monday, May 4, the "Mid-day Scot" on the London Midland and Scottish Railway, was accelerated to leave Euston at 2 p.m., and arrive at Glasgow at 9.35 p.m., as before. This is the fastest regular journey time which has ever been in operation between London and Glasgow. The new schedule includes four steps of a total duration of 19 minutes and will be maintained by one locomotive of "The Princess Royal" class throughout, the engine men being changed at Crewe. The maximum loads may be as much as 600 tons from Euston to Carnforth, 500 tons from Carnforth to Carlisle over Shap, and the same from Carlisle to Glasgow over Beattock.

CARLISLE TO GLASGOW

The 102½ miles from Carlisle to Glasgow will be run in 116 minutes, an average speed of 53 m.p.h. On the first day of the new schedule the "Duchess of Kent" hauled a 440-ton train from Euston to Crewe, a distance of 158 miles, in 181 minutes, an average start-to-stop speed of 58.9 m.p.h., notwithstanding five slacks for permanent-way operation. The next 72 miles to Lancaster were run in 77 minutes, with a load of 493 tons. The average speed was 55.1 m.p.h., two minutes being gained on schedule, in spite of two temporary speed restrictions. Between Lancaster and Penrith, the 13 miles from Milnthorpe to Grayrigg were run without the speed falling below 40 m.p.h., and on the 54 miles climbs from Tebay to Shap Summit, the minimum speed was 27.5 m.p.h. Between Shap and Penrith, a speed of 81 m.p.h. was attained, the latter place reached in 59 minutes 26 seconds from Lancaster, an average start-to-stop speed of 51.3 m.p.h. A maximum speed of 85 m.p.h. was reached between Penrith and Carlisle, while the final stage of 102½ miles from Carlisle to Glasgow was run in 114 minutes, or 14 minutes less than schedule in spite of a permanent-way slack near Kirkpatrick, several speed restrictions in the Motherwell area, and a 5-minute signal stop at Lamington. The load on this section was 277 tons.

THE MINIMUM SPEED

A minimum speed of 34.5 m.p.h. was maintained up Beattock bank. On the same date, the journey time of the up Merseyside Express was accelerated to 4½ hours, the 189½ miles from Mossley Hill to Euston being run in 189 minutes, an average speed of 60.2 m.p.h. On the inaugural journey the actual time taken was 186 minutes 20 seconds, an average speed of 61.1 m.p.h. The load was 448 tons. Trials with a dynamometer car have also been started between Euston and Glasgow with the experimental turboelectric engine, No. 6202. The up and down Royal Scot is being used for this purpose with loads between 475 tons and 560 tons. On the second day, No. 6202 took a load of 500 tons from Symington to Carlisle, a distance of 68.9 miles, in 64 minutes, an average speed of 53.3 m.p.h. The minimum speed at the top of Beattock was 39 m.p.h., and the maximum subsequently attained was 77.5 m.p.h., the 49½ miles from the Summit to Carlisle being run in just under 46 minutes.

THE MANCHESTER SHIP CANAL

INCREASED TRAFFIC

The general upward trend which is taking place in industry is reflected in increased merchandise traffic on the Manchester Ship Canal. The total tonnage of the toll-paying traffic rose from 5,949,970 in 1934 to 6,135,603 in 1935; furthermore the 1934 figure was greater than that for 1933 and the latter higher than the 1932 total, which stood at the relatively low figure of 5,318,935 tons. The annual report of the directors of the Manchester Ship Canal Company, for the year ending December 31,

THE WATER ENGINEER AND HIS WORK

The forty-first summer general meeting of the Institution of Water Engineers was held at Cardiff from Wednesday, May 20, to Friday, May 22. The proceedings on the opening day included the delivery of the presidential address by Mr. Neil J. Peters, M.Inst.C.E. In the course of his address the president said that the mountainous character of Wales and its high rainfall had caused the principal catchment areas of Great Britain. The average rainfall was 50 in. per annum, giving a total precipitation of 8,000,000,000 gallons. Probably the inhabitants of Wales and Monmouthshire consumed between 18,000,000,000 and 22,000,000,000 gallons, while the quantity drawn by Liverpool, Birmingham, Birkenhead, Chester, Shrewsbury, and Hereford did not exceed 2,000,000,000 gallons. The whole of the water now utilised, including that employed for the generation of power, was therefore only a small proportion of the total run-off. To conserve this margin would, however, mean the construction of large storage reservoirs, and it would also be difficult to convey water from the southern and western coasts, where the precipitation was greatest to the centres of population.

THE PROGRESS

Referring to the progress that had been made in public water supply since the passing of the Municipal Corporations Act of 1835, the president said that at that time the large centres of population used either piped supplies, public pumps, conduit houses, springs, or streams. Many of these sources were of unsatisfactory purity, and the growing demand for better water was met by private enterprise. This development was carried out under the Waterworks Clauses Act of 1847, and ten years later the majority of large towns had adequate supplies, mostly provided by water companies. The passing of the Public Health Acts of 1875 and 1878 and of the Local Government Acts of 1888 and 1894 placed the responsibility for ensuring a proper water supply more upon the sanitary authorities, and the result had been a tendency to transfer this service from private to public ownership.

Though from remote times disease was connected with the drinking of polluted waters, few precautions seem to have been taken against pollution until 1852, after successive outbreaks of cholera. Parliament ordained that water should not be taken from the Thames below Teddington. Similar precautions were also adopted by the majority of towns in the kingdom. This restriction showed that the necessity of obtaining pure water before filtration was appreciated, and since that time the methods adopted had enabled water of excellent quality to be used. These methods, however, entailed considerable capital outlay, a state of affairs which had led to the development of double filtration and to rapid filtration with or without chemical treatment. Similar progress had been made in connection with pumping, and high efficiency was now obtained by the use of high-pressure steam, gas, oil, and electricity. The water engineer had also benefited by the progress of metallurgy and the discovery of new materials, such as the production of aluminium and its alloys and of ferro-concrete and artificial stone.

1935, shows that maintenance works were carried out in the form of dredging operations and repairs to locks, bridges and other property, as the necessity arose, but that no new works of importance were put in hand. These maintenance works are, however, fairly extensive as shown by the fact that sums of £127,835,

STEEL "HAND" TO CAPTURE BANDITS

INVENTION OF SIR M. CAMPBELL

Greatest step forward in Britain's war on motor bandits, the invention of a giant steel "hand" that shoots out from a police car to capture a pursued car at speed was revealed last night.

It is the work of Sir Malcolm Campbell, world's speed record-holder. Already preliminary tests have been made at the Police College, Hendon. Cars dodged and twisted all over the road trying to evade this new arm of the law. But they failed.

Sir Malcolm was led to think of his gadget by the death, in Ealing (London), of a pedestrian when a police car, trying to edge a stolen car into the kerb, skidded and hurled the civilian against a wall killing him.

"I thought," Sir Malcolm said, "that the first thing you do when you are running after a thief is to grasp him by the neck. I thought the same might be done with a car."

A telescopic steel arm with strong claws a foot wide is fitted to the front of the police car.

On making contact with the rear bumper of a car the claws become firmly locked. By braking the police car, the pursued car is brought to a standstill.

SIR MALCOLM TRIES IT OUT
To demonstrate his device to a reporter Sir Malcolm fitted it to one of his own cars, and with the assistance of two of his mechanics staged a police chase in his grounds.

The "bandit" made off and Sir Malcolm set off in pursuit. He caught up with the car and out came the arm. Its movement was controlled by a small hydraulic pump operated with a hand lever by a mechanic sitting in front of Sir Malcolm.

A few turns of the lever and it opened out like a penknife and pointed in the direction the car was going. A few more turns and it protruded still further by telescopic action.

The steel claws then opened and as soon as a metal disc in the centre pressed against the bandit's bumper the claws closed and the "bandit's" car was brought to a standstill.

"Once it has taken hold," said Sir Malcolm, "anyone with experience of towing will realise that merely by slowing down and applying its brakes the police car must force the car in front to come to a standstill."

A MUNICIPAL COLLIER SERVICE

The erection, for other reasons, of large generating stations on the banks of a water way brings into prominence the advantages of water-borne over railborne coal and necessitates an addition to the equipment that has to be provided. As is well known, the London Power Company already owns a fleet of colliers, by means of which coal is brought from the coalfields up the Thames to Battersea, both for use at that station and elsewhere, and the Fulham Borough Council is to adopt the same practice for the service of the new station which they are erecting high up the river. This station will have an initial capacity of 132,000 kW and an ultimate capacity of 310,000 kW, and will then consume 2,000 tons of coal per day. The first of three colliers which will supply coal to the station was launched at the Burntisland yard of the Burntisland Shipbuilding Company Limited, on Saturday, December 7, and named Fulham by the Mayoress of that borough (Mrs. S. Vanderhook).

were spent on dredging and of £73,719, on repairs to locks, roads, bridges, and hydraulic and electric lighting installations. Considerable sums were also expended in maintaining the efficiency of the Company's railway system.

GROWTH OF EDINBURGH UNIVERSITY

MR. MACDONALD AT LONDON DINNER

London, June 24.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, one of the representatives of the Scottish Universities in Parliament, was the guest of honour at the two hundred and thirtieth dinner of the Edinburgh University Club of London at the May Fair Hotel last night.

Lord Amulree who presided, submitted the toast of the Alma Mater and the Club.

Sir Thomas Holland, the Principal of the University, in reply said that Edinburgh had more students in hostels and more research workers than all the other Universities in Scotland put together.

Mr. MacDonald, responding to the toast of "The Guests," submitted by Sir John Thomson-Walker, said he never had had the benefit of being able to get to the University. In his dream moments he had approached their gates. In moments of hard reality he was turned away from them. Nevertheless the Scottish Universities had not confined their influence to those who had been blessed by entering them because the great distinction of those institutions was that they were not separated from elementary education. He remembered those glorious walks home from school. What did they see in front of them? What was the great intellectual entity that they were becoming identified with—a small public school in a little country place, where year by year they strove hard to get enough pupils and where they barely succeeded in maintaining a pupil teacher? The Universities in Scotland began with the first step in an elementary school. One went up and through what one felt all the time was a fine spirit of intellectual freedom—the glory of revelling in all the things that belonged to the mind and the spirit and led right on to the University. He wondered if the Universities in Scotland were quite aware of the necessity of maintaining that tremendous power in the lives of our people to-day having regard to all the changing circumstances.

Sir David Wilkie responded. Dr. Robert Hutchison proposed the health of the chairman.

POLITICS IN FILMS

A DANGEROUS TENDENCY

Lord Tyrrell On The Censorship

London, June 20.

Lord Tyrrell, president of the British Board of Film Censors, drew attention to a tendency for politics to creep into films, when he addressed members of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association at their conference at last night.

After stating that the Board of Censors found a distinct improvement in the films now being produced, and had taken exception to 50 per cent. fewer pictures than was the case in the previous year, Lord Tyrrell said:—"On the other hand, the board has noticed tendencies of late which I think it wise to bring to your notice, so that you may give the matter your careful and earnest consideration. The first tendency to which I would draw attention is the creeping of politics into films. From my past experience I consider this dangerous. It is, of course, done with impunity in those countries where the cinema is under the control of the State, but it would be dangerous to make such an attempt in this country."

"Nothing would be more calculated to arouse the passions of the British public than the introduction on the screen of subjects dealing either with religious or political controversy. I believe you are all alive to this danger. You cannot lose sight of one of the first regulations in your licences, which states that no film must be exhibited which is likely to lead to disorder. So far, we have had no film dealing with current burning political questions, but the thin end of the wedge is being inserted, and it is difficult to foresee to what lengths it may go, or where it may ultimately lead, unless some check is kept on these early developments."

"The distinctly political film appears to be receiving the attention of outside producers. Consequently I think it would be well, in this early stage, to have some definite pronouncement from your organization as to what would be your attitude towards these films, if, and when, they make their appearance."

A PEACE FILM

"You may have seen that I have been attacked in the Press recently for having 'banned a peace film.' There was nothing ever further from our thoughts, and as a matter of fact the certificate was issued for the film the day before the attacks were made in the Press. There was a short delay in dealing with the subject, but this was not due in any way to the suggestion that the theme of the film was considered unsuitable for public exhibition, but solely on the grounds of a possible infringement of copyright in connection with some of the photographic scenes. When this point was cleared up, the certificate was issued forthwith. From the publicity given to this film, it would give the impression that it was an important feature subject, whereas it was of the 'trailer' type, taking about three minutes to exhibit."

Lord Tyrrell also referred to an attack on a picture contained in a series of films consisting of topical events strung together to form a story, saying:—"It centred on the activities of the League of Nations Union and illustrated a meeting of that body presided over by its president. The commentary of the film, compiled by the film publishers, was unfortunate, and of such a nature as to give the impression that England was arming against Italy."

"In consequence, we asked for several phrases to be deleted, together with one or two short scenes, including an incident of what might have been considered of political significance, which was taken some years ago and prior to the outbreak of hostilities between Italy and Abyssinia. Being sandwiched between more recent 'shots' it was thought that it might be misconstrued, and for this reason we suggested that it should be deleted."

Lord Tyrrell added that the publishers of the film sent a long communication to the board regretting the attack and disclaiming all responsibility for it. They affirmed that the board's criticism had been constructive, and that the suggested amendments did not in any way militate against the film's interest.

The "horrible" category of film had now ceased to exist, but he

DUCHESS OF KENT

STAR AND GARTER EXHIBITION OPENED

London, June 28.

The Duchess of Kent opened the annual exhibition of patients' handwork at the Star and Garter Home for Disabled Sailors and Soldiers at Richmond yesterday.

The Duchess, who was attended by her lady-in-waiting, Lady Mary Hope, was received by the president, Marshal of the R.A.F. Sir John Salmond, and the Hon. Sir Arthur Stanley, chairman of the Board of Governors.

Although the Duchess displayed considerable interest in the various stalls, no exhibit caught her fancy as much as the doll's-house made by Mr. Ben Johnson, who has occupied the "Prince George Bed" for the past 12 months. The doll's-house was bought by Sir Arthur Stanley as a present for Princess Margaret Rose.

"I must confess that I am jealous of my little niece. I should just love to play with it myself," exclaimed the Duchess as she admired the details of the two-storey villa.

During her tour the Duchess was presented with a toy dog by one of the men. At the stalls she purchased so many objects, toys and useful presents, made by the patients that the attendants had great difficulty in collecting them all for the Duchess to take away with her.

deplored that there was an increasing number of pictures in which hospital scenes were introduced showing intimate details which could hardly be said to be either entertainment or amusement. He believed that the cumulative effect of those films was unwholesome. The wave had reached its height, and was now on the wane.

Mr. S. Rowson, of London, suggesting a cooperative advertising

QUEEN MARY NOT TO ATTEND

Royal Garden Parties

DUCHESS TO BE HOSTESS

London, June 23.

Queen Mary will not be present at the two Royal garden parties at Buckingham Palace on July 21 and 22.

It was announced yesterday that the Duchess of York will act as hostess.

These garden parties are this year taking the place of the Courts, and debutantes will be presented to the King at them. They will make only a single curtsy as they pass before him.

Queen Mary will not be present because, although the Court will then be in half mourning, she will continue to observe full mourning for King George for a time. It was officially denied yesterday that Queen Mary will go to Cowes for Regatta Week.

At the garden parties the King will sit on a gilt chair under the red and gold Durbar tent, supported on silver posts. Behind him will be members of the Royal Family grouped in the royal circle.

The Lord Chamberlain (Lord Cromer) will announce the name of each debutante as she is presented.

Next Friday morning the King will inspect his bodyguard of the Yeomen of the Guard in the gardens of Buckingham Palace.

Immediately after the ceremony the King will receive the members of the All-India cricket team, who will be meeting the English side in the first Test match at Lord's on the following day.

MISS PACIFIC FLEET

When the average movie fan turns to the drama page and sees the names of Joan Blondell and Glenda Farrell linked together in a forthcoming moving picture, he immediately assumes that they will be cast as two wisecracking young gold-diggers.

It is not surprising that these two young ladies have become known as public avengers of their sex on business men. They have been teamed in such roles for so long that their names have become synonymous with deflated egos.

Their latest Warner Bros. picture, "Miss Pacific Fleet," now showing at the Star Theatre is no disappointment to those movie-goers who delight in seeing the two girls wheedle a few hundred dollars out of the pockets of a shy but willing business man. For they're gold-digging the navy this time, and putting a couple of battleships in mortgage while they do it.

Actually the Misses Blondell and Farrell are so far removed from their popular characterizations as it is possible to be. Both are essentially home-loving and neither have ever been in want either before or during their cinema careers.

Joan's success in moving pictures was instantaneous, and she is now a star in her own right. Her tastes are simple and her ambition is to rise to even higher fame as a great dramatic actress.

Glenda Farrell's life story reads in a like manner. She was born to the stage and its traditions and was a highly-successful legitimate actress before the moving pictures claimed her and teamed her with Joan Blondell. The greatest thing in her life is her 12 year old son, Tommy, whom she is with constantly when not working at the studio.

"Miss Pacific Fleet" is a rollicking comedy romance. Others in the cast include Hugh Herbert, Allen Jenkins, Warren Hull, Eddie Acuff, Marie Wilson and Minna Gombell.

"MUSIC GOES 'ROUND"

A new day has dawned for jazz music. A new rhythm, a new interpretation has come to the fore and is taking America by storm. It is called "swing," but exactly what it is, no one seems to know.

Even its leading exponents, like Louis Armstrong, Paul Whiteman, Benny Goodman, Louis Prima and Ed Farley and Mike Riley, composers of "The Music Goes 'Round and Around," who, with their song, appear with Harry Richman, Rochelle Hudson, Michael Bartlett, and Walter Connolly in Columbia's new musical extravaganza, "The Music Goes 'Round," showing now at the Alhambra Theatre, admit that it is an indefinable style.

"It comes," they say, "from the heart. No music is read, generally. The music goes in the ear, goes down and around the musician's soul, and comes out as 'swing rhythm.' As Chick Webb, Negro band leader of Harlem's Savoy Ballroom, says, 'It's like lovin' a special girl, and you don't see her for a year, and then she comes back—it's something inside you.'"

James Cagney and Lili Damita will come to the Star Theatre on Sunday in what is heralded as the greatest of Cagney's five big hits, "Frisco Kid," a story of the Barbary Coast in the vicious fifties.

Other well-informed sources say it's "a case of jitters set to music." What it all boils down to is—well, something to the tempo of "The Music Goes 'Round and Around.'" It just carries itself off through its own momentum. It's inspiration.

While the new jazz is giving jazzmen a large-sized headache trying to define it, the fact remains that it is an advanced stage of jazz, a natural progression from the "Alexander's Ragtime Band" of 1911 and the jazz style of the late 1920's "Swing" is definitely the modern age's music.

In "The Music Goes 'Round," hailed as the "show of shows," filled to the brim with entertainment surprises, great stars and specialty headliners, Farley and Riley appear in an important musical sequence. "Swing" is given recognition; for the boys "swing it" with their original "swing band," which first brought the infectious song, "The Music Goes 'Round and Around," to the attention of music-minded America. It is a genuine "swing" song. "Life Begins When You're in Love," "There'll Be No South," and "Let's Go" are other selections in the parade of song hits featured in the big show.

THREE SHOWS IN ONE

AT THE ORIENTAL TO-MORROW

Triple show at the Oriental Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. "Laurel and Hardy in their latest and funniest comedy 'The Live Ghosts,' also the newest comedy screen novelty 'Audioscopiks,' with the aid of coloured glasses, which will be furnished by the management, objects and persons apparently jump right from the screen into your lap, a very funny and amusing picture! Then that special South Sea Island production 'The Last of the Pagans' with a cast of over 5,000 natives in thrilling scenes. The entire population of the coral isle in the Pacific, including its chief, was impressed to act.

It is gripping entertainment of an unusual sort. It has thrills galore. It shows the audience intimate details of native life, all set in island scenery of almost breath-taking beauty.

Ma'a, Eskimo actor, and Lotus Long play hero and heroine. The only white players in the cast are a few sailors and overseers enlisted on the islands.

The actual filming of an island typhoon, the battle between Ma'a and the wild boar, the cave-in in the potash mine, and other exciting episodes with shark and swordfish add thrills to the unique entertainment. The escape at sea in the height of the storm is another thrilling dramatic highlight in the enthralling story of a vanishing race.

"Last of the Pagans" is more than screen entertainment, for it veritably bares the soul of a gentle people of enchanted islands whose only enemy is the white man's civilization.

DELAYED SALVAGING OF SUNKEN TUG

Surveys Proceed Whilst Tenders Considered

Shanghai, July 7. Actual work on the raising of the tug St. Aubin, which sank on Saturday afternoon when rammed by the s.s. Ping An off the Shanghai and Hongkew Wharf Company's Footing Wharf, will not begin as rapidly as was expected. Preliminary surveys are being made, but before actual work begins, it will be necessary to determine who will do the salvaging.

Tenders now are being made to the Shanghai Tug and Lighter Co., operators of the tug, by various salvagers. The tug is lying off the wharf about 10 yd. distant, and interferes with any ships that may want to dock there.

Next Sunday, the Empress of Asia will arrive here from Manila and Hong Kong. It is possible that she will be able to share the Hongkew Wharf with the Potsdam, but, on the other hand, she may go to the Footing Wharf, in which case the St. Aubin cannot be there. The Canadian Pacific Line will make an announcement about the Empress at a later date. (N.C.D.N.)

SNATCHER CAUGHT

Wong Chui, 30, unemployed, was charged before Mr. Burgess at the Central Court yesterday with the larceny from the person of Mrs. Tam Siu Yu, living at No. 62A, Bonham Road, of a handbag containing a jade ring and a jade bangle.

Sub-Inspector Kirby stated that about 4.45 p.m. on Thursday the complainant was walking along Calne Road, near the Police married quarters, and the defendant came up from behind and snatched the bag. He ran down Hospital Road. He was chased and arrested by a Chinese constable. The total value of the stolen articles was $32.

That kind of larceny was becoming too frequent in that district, stated Inspector Kirby. Defendant was remanded for medical examination.

OPIMUM ROUND BODY

A fine of $100 or one month was imposed on Lee Wing, by Mr. Burgess at the Central Court yesterday when he was found guilty on a charge of possession of 10 taels of raw opium on the Canton wharf.

R. O. Grimmer stated that the defendant had the opium strapped around his waist when arrested.

NO DUTY PAID

Charged with the possession of 25 packets of dutiable cigarettes, Cheng Pui, 20, a stall fook, was fined $20 or two weeks when he appeared before Mr. Burgess at the Central Court yesterday.

Sergeant Sullivan stated that the defendant was arrested in Po Yan Street with the cigarettes wrapped up in a paper parcel.

SQUATTERS TO CLEAR OUT

Charges of trespassing on the old Blue Pool Road, were preferred against 15 squatters, including seven women, at the Central Court yesterday before Mr. W. Schofield.

Mr. Stott, of the P.W.D., said that they were flocking back to this area and asked His Worship for an order to clear it. Last year the place was raided but none of the people were prosecuted.

Defendants were remanded for 24 hours for enquiries. Bail was allowed in $5 each.

HEAVY FINE

A fine of $100 or two months was imposed by Mr. W. Schofield when Yeung Pan, unemployed appeared at the Central Court yesterday charged with the possession of 50 heroin pills in Johnson Road.

Sergeant Galvin prosecuted.

CONFISCATION ORDER

An application was made by Sergeant Davies before Mr. Burgess at the Central Court yesterday for the confiscation of 220 packets of unmanifested and unclaimed mail parcels lying on board the s.s. Hai Yang at the Douglas wharf on July 2.

The application was granted.

ANOTHER REMAND

Cheung Lin To, 23, bricklayer, of No. 143 Cheung Sha Wan Road, was further remanded at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, where he appeared before Mr. E. Himsforth on a charge of unlawfully and maliciously wounding Sze Hok Chuen.

The alleged assault took place at Shamshui. Detective Sergeant R. R. Ellis for the prosecution, stated that the complainant was set unable to walk. This was defendant's third remanded appearance.

EVIDENCE IN EXTRADITION CASE

Further evidence for the prosecution in the extradition proceedings against Yu Lap-fai alias Li Chi-on alias Li Shek-yau, was taken yesterday before Mr. Schofield at the Central Court.

Allegations were that the fugitive, on July 23, 1931 at the North Station, Shanghai did murder Tong U Lo, secretary to Mr. T. V. Soong, Minister of Finance; did attempt to murder Chung Tsz Man, otherwise known as T. V. Soong; with others did conspire, confederate and agree to murder T. V. Soong and did solicit, encourage, persuade or endeavour to persuade another person or persons to murder T. V. Soong.

Mr. D. L. Strellett is conducting the case for the Crown again and Mr. P. H. Sin represented the fugitive.

The Crown case was that defendant with five others shot at T. V. Soong at the North Station, and instead killed their intended victim's secretary who was walking by the latter's side during one of his visits to Shanghai. Defendant was seen to fire the first shot in the shooting affray which took place in the station and immediately after that, the secretary Tong, dropped to the ground and later succumbed to his injuries.

Yesterday Luk Yau Tsui, one of the Shanghai Railway Police went into the box and corroborated the previous evidence of Chui Sam Chung. Witness described the arrival of Mr. Soong and party at the station and the subsequent gun battle.

Witness went on to say that after at the Police headquarters, he was able to identify from photographs of two of the murderers. One of these was that of the defendant's Yu Lap-fai.

After evidence of the subsequent proceedings, the case was adjourned.

ASSAULT WITH SCISSORS

Married Woman Is Bound Over

A charge of assault on Chan So, a boy aged 14, causing grievous bodily harm at 53, Shing Wo Road on July 8, was preferred against Tse Kwong, a married woman aged 20, when she appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court yesterday.

Def. Sergt. Dowman, said that the complainant and the defendant lived in the same floor. Early

BROKE ANKLE

TRYING TO ESCAPE FROM ARREST

A man who broke his ankle when he jumped from a window in King's Park Mansion in an attempt to break away from detention before the arrival of the police, appeared on remand before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday charged with theft of a medicine glass from car No. 2736, owned by Mr. Wan Liss of No. 2A King's Park Mansions, which was parked in Austin Road near the Kowloon Bowling Green Club.

The man was Wong Mui Tai. He was fined $5 or in default, 14 days imprisonment. It was explained by the prosecuting officer that immediately on arrival of the police at Mr. Wan Liss's flat, accused was rushed to hospital.

Wong's criminal record disclosed that he was bound over against theft in May this year for a year. For breaking this bond he was fined an additional sum of $10 or one month's imprisonment.

CAUGHT AFTER STEALING

Man With A Previous Conviction

An accidental meeting in Jaffe Road and the recognition by the complainant's son of the suitcase which the defendant was carrying, resulted in Yuen Hing, 39, unemployed, appearing before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court yesterday charged with breaking into No. 154, Jaffe Road and stealing a leather suitcase, the property of Mrs. Y. Yamamoto.

Det. Sergt. Dowman stated that at 2 p.m. on Wednesday the complainant's son met the defendant in Jaffe Road and recognised the suitcase which defendant was carrying as that belonging to his mother. He stopped and questioned the defendant who dropped the case and ran. Defendant was caught by an Indian constable.

The defendant admitted breaking into the house and stealing the suitcase.

Having a previous conviction for larceny, defendant was sentenced to six months.

In the afternoon of July 6, the defendant was sitting in the doorway mending some clothes when the complainant trod on her toes. Defendant gazed him and he retaliated by calling her names. Defendant chased complainant and struck him with her scissors in the leg.

Defendant was bound over in $30.

DANGEROUS DRUGS

POSSESSION CHARGE

Arrested on July 7 in Shantung Street, near Shanghai Street, a 32-year-old unemployed, named Lo Kit-kwan, of 171, Lai-chikok Road, was found in possession of a drug thought to be morphine. At the Kowloon Magistracy before Mr. E. Himsforth yesterday, Det. Sergt. R. R. Ellis intimated that a report received from the Government Monopoly Analyst stated the drug was procaine hydrochloride, a synthetic cocaine.

Under the circumstances the police could not continue with the case until permission had been granted to prosecute from the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services. A remand till Monday was granted. The quantity of the drug was stated to be five ounces which was found in two empty bottles purporting to be Blando.

In the afternoon the case was transferred from the Second Court to Mr. Macfadyen's court.

Detective Inspector R. R. Ellis explained that the prosecution wished to withdraw the charge for possession of dangerous goods in substitution for one of possession of poison.

The value of the drugs was $25. A fine of $50 or in default, one month's imprisonment was imposed.

OPIMUM CARRIER

Stated to have been employed as a carrier of opium from Shum Chun, Lau Hang, 17 years, unemployed, was fined $200 or, in default, three months' hard labour by Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. Revenue Officer H. R. Major said that the defendant was arrested after he had left the Canton express train and 18 taels of raw opium were found in a sugar tin carried under his arm.

LEAD FOR MONEY

Ruse Fails

MONEY CHANGER'S FORESIGHT

An old trick to victimise money changers was related at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday when Liu Kwong, 36, unemployed appeared before Mr. Macfadyen charged with attempting to steal $50 from Wong Fun Lam, at Shamshui on July 5.

Another charge of attempting to steal $5 belonging Wam Sum, master of a cigarette shop, was withdrawn.

Detective-Inspector A. H. Elston appeared for the prosecution.

A fine of $20 or two months' jail was imposed.

Inspector Elston said that Liu visited the Hing Cheong money changer's shop, No. 288 Lai-chikok Road at 7.30 a.m. on the day in question. He tendered five $10 notes and asked for change in ten cent pieces. This was given him in one bundle of separate rolls all done up in paper.

Liu thereupon made to leave the shop, and the money changer asked for his commission. The latter claimed five cents, but Liu was only willing to give two cents. When the complainant would not agree to this, defendant drew a bundle resembling the genuine one from his pocket and laid it on the counter, at the same time demanding his paper money in return. The complainant examined the bundle and found it to contain nothing more than separate pieces of lead wrapped in paper. Defendant ran away but was arrested by an Indian constable at the corner of the road.

CRUELTY TO A SPARROW

YOUTH CHARGED

Having pierced the nostrils of a sparrow, and threaded the hole with a piece of cotton, allowing the bird to fly away and then draw it back again, was the matter of a charge of cruelty to a sparrow in Bonham Road, which was preferred against Leung Shing before Mr. Burgess at the Central Court yesterday.

Sub-Inspector Kirby stated that Sergeant Sullivan was on patrol duty in Bonham Road about 9 a.m. on Thursday and the defendant was seen with the sparrow attached by the string. He was allowing

TRAFFIC SUMMONS

Captain Roll Francis Alexander Crookshank, of the Royal Ulster Rifles, Murray Barracks, was summoned before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday morning for traffic offences alleged to have taken place at 9.30 p.m. on April 30 outside the Alhambra Theatre.

The first summons related to needless blowing of the horn; the second for failure to draw in to the left hand, or near side of the road; and a third summons was for obstruction.

The defendant pleaded guilty to the second offence but denied the others.

Sergeant A. White testified that at 9.30 p.m. on the night in question he was on duty outside the Alhambra Theatre. Car No. 43, approached the theatre on the wrong side of the road and attempted to go against the stream of traffic coming from Tsimshatsui. At the same time the defendant sounded his horn several times over a period of half a minute. Witness went up and remonstrated with defendant who replied, "I am trying to get my car out and park it." Witness pointed out that defendant could reverse, then swerve left or swing out sharply. There was a clear space behind. Witness also told him not to sound his horn so much as the taxis had the right of way.

Defendant then managed to swing clear and went across to the parking space in Gascoigne Road. It was raining heavily at the time and it made it impossible for the taxis to discharge their passengers under the canopy.

Cross-examined by Acting Sub-Inspector A. R. Brittain, who prosecuted, witness said that there were at least three taxis approaching from Tsimshatsui. Witness opined that no obstruction would have been caused if the defendant had reversed and swung out.

CONTINUOUS SOUNDING

Mr. J. Gardiner, of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Company, deposed that his attention was drawn to defendant's car by the continuous sounding of the horn. He drew up to the Alhambra Theatre's entrance coming from left to right of the road facing towards the Star Ferry. Defendant drove his car away at a slight angle and forced three or four taxis backwards "this went on until the taxis could not back any more; getting mixed up behind." In witness's opinion defendant blew his horn between 30 and 60 seconds.

Defendant said that on the night in question it was raining very heavily and he wished to discharge his wife opposite the theatre. "On approaching the theatre from Prince Edward Road, I looked behind to see if any car was coming. I swung to the right of the road and stopped opposite the theatre. Outside of this line there were two or possibly three taxis that were stopped. I found that in swinging out to the left it would be impossible for me to go to the left of the road so I sounded my horn for I suppose 15 to 20 seconds during which time Sergt. White came over and told me I had no right to sound the horn. The traffic being then cleared I swung left and parked my car."

THE JUDGMENT

Giving a written judgment, his Worship said:—

"I am of opinion that the evidence offered is sufficient to sustain a conviction of each charge. The offences appear to have arisen of one another. If defendant had not attempted to approach line of traffic in the wrong direction it would not have been necessary to blow the horn for a period which I consider unreasonable in quantity and duration. If the horn had not been blown the other vehicles on the road would not have been hindered in their movements and a general obstruction caused. Defendant alleges that a second line of taxis in the centre of the road was responsible for his dilemma, but I am of the opinion that this offers no excuse, since such taxis, if they actually did exist, had a better right to be where they were than had defendant. I therefore impose a fine of $5 on each charge."

Defendant was fined a total of $15.

Sub-Inspector Kirby stated that Sergeant Sullivan was on patrol duty in Bonham Road about 9 a.m. on Thursday and the defendant was seen with the sparrow attached by the string. He was allowing

NO EVIDENCE TO PROVE GUILTY KNOWLEDGE

BARBER AND DUD COINS

Destruction Ordered

An altercation between spectators and a man engaged in the purchase of cigarettes attracted the attention of Sergeant F. Nolan in Lai-chikok Road near Cedar Street, Sham Shui Po district. On the approach of the police officer the crowd dispersed but one told him that a man had attempted to pass counterfeit coins. This man was arrested and at the station 21 counterfeit Hong Kong ten-cent pieces were found in his possession. The man was Li Yung, 28, barber.

At the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday morning before Mr. E. Himsforth he pleaded not guilty to charges of possession and uttering. He admitted that two coins tendered by him were returned as bad.

Det. Sergt. F. Forrest stated that in his lower left hand pocket $4.10 was found of which 17 were false. In the right hand pocket $1 and one cent were found of which four were bad.

Following evidence by the prosecution in which Sergt. J. G. Whitcroft, of the Treasury deposed that 21 coins were counterfeit, defendant, in the witness stand, declared that he was a barber and received the money in the ordinary course of business and did not know they were false. He had separated the money because he had to make a payment to a money loan association on behalf of his mother. Witness was, however, arrested while on his way to do so.

His Worship held that although there were suspicious circumstances in the case there was no evidence to prove guilty knowledge. The defendant was, therefore, discharged and an order was made for confiscation of the bad coins.

IMPRISONMENT WITHOUT FINE

Opium Possession Charge

BOAT USED BY TRAFFICKER

Three men, Ma Pau, 32, Ho Chuen, 30, and Chan Fook, 52, together with Chan San, 27, a widow, were charged before Mr. Burgess at the Central Court yesterday with the possession of 300 taels of raw opium on board sampan No. 2896V.

The woman said that the boat was hers and that she procured the services of the three men because of the typhoon signal.

R. O. Grimmer stated that at 12.45 p.m. on Thursday, acting on information, he hired a motor boat and gave chase to a sampan which was being towed by a launch. The launch was overtaken at the entrance to the Yaumati Shelter. The woman was steering and the men were squatting around a basket making spun yarn.

The basket contained four packets of raw opium which the first defendant then claimed as his.

At the Revenue Office the woman said that she had been engaged by the first defendant to take them to the s.s. Kwong Chow which had arrived from Canton that morning. The fare offered was $4. They went to the steamer and the first and second defendants then handed into the sampan the basket. The woman was then ordered to go to Yaumati.

All the male defendants said that they had been engaged by the woman to help take the sampan to the Yaumati shelter because of the high wind. The third defendant was the uncle of the woman and was also helping to sail the boat.

His Worship remarked that the third and fourth defendants quite possibly took a bona fide trip to the ship. They were then discharged. R. O. Grimmer asked His Worship to caution the woman as she ought to have known that to get a fare of $4 meant that she was carrying more than mere passengers.

The first and second defendants were sentenced to six months without the option and a further fine of $3,000 or six months.

THREE FATALITIES REPORTED

Traffic Accidents WEEKLY RETURN

In the Colony of Hong Kong including the Island, Kowloon and the New Territories during the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, the 4th instant, there were altogether 42 traffic accidents as the result of which 3 persons were killed and 16 persons were injured.

Of the persons killed, two Chinese males, lorry passengers, died as the result of injuries received through falling from two different moving motor lorries.

A Chinese seaman on board the Vehicular Ferry, s.s. "Man Kim," died as a result of injuries received when a private car which started too soon collided with the barrier plank which he was removing from the bow of the ferry.

Of the persons injured, 8 were pedestrians who were either walking or running across the road and were struck by vehicles.

Two tramcar passengers and one bus passenger were injured while alighting from moving tramcars and a moving motor bus respectively.

One tricycle driver, two private motor car drivers and two private motor car passengers were injured as the result of collisions between vehicles.

Of the 42 accidents, 21 were collisions between vehicles; 10 were collisions between vehicles and pedestrians; and 11 accidents were due to other causes.

PROMOTED TO REAR ADMIRAL

COMMODORE SEDGWICK'S DISTINCTION

The announcement was made yesterday of the promotion of Commodore C. G. Sedgwick to Rear Admiral with effect from July 19. The Commodore will be placed on the retired list on July 20.

It is very likely that as Rear Admiral he will carry on with his present duties until the end of the period for which he was appointed, March 1937.

Prior to taking up his present position over a year ago, Commodore Sedgwick was Captain of H.M.S. Berwick.

It is notified in the War Office Gazette that Captain G. F. Maclean, Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders, and formerly G.S.O.3 China Command, has been promoted from Brigade Major, Cairo Brigade, to G.S.O.3, War Office, with effect from June 17.

UNIQUE OBSTRUCTION

Three Truck Loads Removed

Five coolies and two women, described as widows, were charged before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfarlane at the Kowloon Police Court yesterday with causing an obstruction by leaving bedding on a public footpath at Reclamation Street near Ningpo Street. All the accused were bound over in $3 each. Inspector R. Shannon stated that three truck loads of baggage and other paraphernalia, including utensils, were removed from the footpath.

"DORADO" LEAVES

The R.M.A. "Dorado" left here yesterday morning at 11 o'clock without any passenger, but carried 63.328 Kilos. of mail. There was no freight carried also.

The area once again would be opened to the public.

From those who have visited the area since it has been learned that some concrete pill-boxes, about 6 feet square, have been constructed on the hillside overlooking the sea. Nothing else has been done beyond throwing a barbed wire entanglement round the hills. Foreigners and Chinese are denied entry into the area, except a few farmers who, having land inside the barbed wire, are allowed to continue cultivation.

An organization which suffered severely from the closing of Chapoo was the Automobile Club of China, which had begun building a clubhouse before the evacuation order was issued. (N.C.D.N.)

PLANS FOR STRENGTHENING THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

French Foreign Minister's Speech

NOT DEPRESSED BY "SETBACKS" TO DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

Paris, June 23.

M. Delbos, the Foreign Minister, laid down the lines of French policy to-day.

M. Delbos's two main proposals for strengthening the League were briefly outlined recently in the "Manchester Guardian." But what M. Delbos proposes is not actually an amendment of the Covenant, which might set up an undesirable precedent, but the drawing-up of interpretive texts. The sanctions against Italy, M. Delbos said, were applied too late and incompletely, and in any case he thought that a war already in progress could not be stopped merely by economic sanctions, even if progressively applied. The ideal application of article 16 would consist in military sanctions being used against the aggressor by all the members of the League, but this was too much to expect from nations not directly affected by the conflict. Collective action must therefore be divided into two sets.

First there must be a group of Powers which, for geographical reasons, or through common interests, are prepared to use military sanctions against the aggressor; but at the same time all the members of the League, without exception, must help the victim of aggression by applying to the aggressor economic and financial sanctions. Such regional pacts of mutual assistance must not be directed against anyone, and must be open to all.

M. Delbos's second proposal concerned the rule of unanimity on the League Council. This rule, he said, must be changed, as it paralysed the working of article 11 of the Covenant. It was nonsense that a State threatening peace should be in a position to hamper the action of other members of the League. The French Government would propose to put an end to this paradoxical situation. The negotiations for regional pacts—the Danubian, Mediterranean, and Western pacts—must be hurried up.

All the Mediterranean Powers from Spain to the Balkan Entente (he said) must be guaranteed against anybody's hegemony over a sea whose shores belong to nations united by a common civilisation.

ITALIAN CO-OPERATION INVITED

M. Delbos hoped that in the West an agreement would also be reached which would put an end to a crisis that began on March 7 (the German occupation of the demilitarised zone). "But this does not depend on us alone." In the meantime the Locarno guarantees reaffirmed on March 19 remain in force as far as the defence of France and Belgium was concerned.

The Foreign Minister expressed the conviction that Italy would co-operate. "We should be glad if her efforts could be gradually harmonised with our own and those of the other interested nations." The phrase has been interpreted by some as an invitation to return to the Sirena Front.

There followed the usual tributes to "the great British democracy," to the United States, to Russia (whose mention was greeted with a storm of applause from the Communists and Socialists), to Poland (with whom M. Delbos hoped to find "better forms of co-operation"), to the Little Entente, and the Balkan Entente, to the "young democracy of Spain" (note cheers from the Left), to Portugal, to the Scandinavian States, and Holland.

DESIRE FOR PEACE WITH GERMANY

Regarding Germany M. Delbos recalled that the Left parties had always striven for Franco-German friendship.

On many occasions Hitler proclaimed his wish to be friends with France. We have no intention of doubting the words of a man who during four years knew the horror of the trenches.

But after this tribute to Hitler, M. Delbos said that one could not escape from the fact Germany was arming at top speed. The British questionnaire had not yet been answered. When the answers came France would examine them with the sincere desire of finding a basis for an agreement; but the agreement must be based on indivisible peace and must not be a menace to anyone.

CONTROL OF ARMAMENTS

The problem of Franco-German relations was closely tied up with the question of disarmament. The setbacks to the Disarmament Conference had not discouraged the French people, who knew that the armaments race inevitably led to war. The French Government would ask for the setting up of a system of publicity in regard to armaments so as to check the arms race, and also the setting up of the Control Commission. It would also propose that the draft convention voted by the majority of States in April, 1935, should come up for a second reading. By nationalising her own war industries France could be relied upon to apply nationally all the necessary control she also expected to be enforced internationally.

In spite of all the efforts made by the British and French Governments the Western Air Pact had come to nothing. The German Government had accepted the pact only in principle, but without wishing to commit itself to any limitation.

Lastly M. Delbos proposed that M. Briand's "European committee" be called together at Geneva to examine such problems as international trade with a view to stimulating it. Germany, though not a League member, would be welcome to join in the discussions.

EXTREMELY SIMPLE PROPOSALS

Such are the remarkable proposals made by the new French Government. They differ from all earlier French proposals by being extremely simple and, given the necessary goodwill on the part of the other Powers, it is felt in French Government quarters that most of them at any rate could be carried out with the minimum of difficulty and delay.

THE MONSTER AGAIN

London, June 24.

The Loch Ness monster has a nice sense of publicity. After lying at the bottom of the loch—or elsewhere—for several months he now reappears on the eve of the major holiday season. Perhaps the great heat of the past few days has drawn him from his lair, but whatever be the weather conditions for the next few weeks we may expect many reappearances, and traders, hotels, and merchants in the vicinity a corresponding increase in custom.

GIFT OF RARE SWEETS

They Were Once Paid As Tribute To Queens

London June 22.

One of the rarest sweetmeats of the East has been presented to Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rosa by Dr. P. E. Pieris, the Ceylon Trade Commissioner in London.

It is "Jaggery," made by a secret process from the liquor obtained by "tapping" the flower of the Kitul palm, which is found among the forests of an ancient royal village. Certain families there held their lands on the tenure of paying their tribute in "Jaggery" to the queens of the island.

The sweets themselves, in the form in which they have been presented to the Princesses, resemble small pieces of brown marzipan. The taste is delicious and an intensive sweetness predominating.

JAPANESE BUSINESS LOOKING UP

Better Times In Sight For White Collar Workers

MANY CONCERNS PAYING BONUSES

Shanghai, July 7.

Happy days are here again for the Japanese white collar workers, the "Shanghai Mainichi" said yesterday. The wheels of big business, insofar as Japanese firms were concerned, showed a distinct slowing-up over the week-end as employees, old and young alike, wasted company time and company paper to figure out what they would do with the mid-year bonuses that just have been distributed.

While exact figures are unavailable, the paper said, the Shanghai Cotton Spinning Company apparently was the most generous, paying out amounts equivalent to eight months' salary. The Nippon Yusen Kaisha led the field in enterprises of its kind with gifts corresponding to four months' pay. The Osaka Shosen Kaisha, the D.K.K. the Yamashita Kisen Kaisha, and the K.K.K. rewarded their employees with extra pay envelopes about three times heavier than usual. This was in addition to the usual May salary. The Nisshin Kisen Kaisha, having apparently recovered from the effects of the anti-Japanese boycott, also returned to the "three-month" class, according to the "Mainichi."

In the "four-month" category came most spinning companies and banks, with large import and export firms gave out sums equivalent to five months' pay.

Dealers in cotton yarn and goods fared badly receiving a two-month bonus, the paper said.

DISTURBING NEWS FROM CHAPOO

Soldiers And Labourers Said To Be Responsible

FURNITURE OF HOUSES BEING DESTROYED

Shanghai, July 7.

Those who bought land in Chapoo, built houses, paid taxes to the Chekiang Provincial Government, and then were ordered to leave the district, as it was to be turned into a military zone, now have a new worry. Soldiers and labourers in the area are reported, in one particular instance, to be demolishing all the household goods. Although it is only known for certain that this has happened in one house, it is feared others may suffer as well.

When landowners left Chapoo in July, 1934, following an order by the provincial authorities, many left behind all their household possessions. They had paid a land tax of $150 a mow and the understanding was that, as soon as the fortifying of the zone was finished, they would be permitted to return. They were given receipts in return for the tax money paid, but little deeds proving ownership of the land were not forwarded as promised.

It is believed that soldiers and labourers previously have made use of the evacuated houses, but, up to now, they have a ways shown consideration for property belonging to others.

The possibility of Chapoo becoming a summer resort for Shanghai grew apace in 1933. Many motorists visited the area and a syndicate built a café at the head of the beach. In 1934, the Chekiang Provincial Government, on the threat of confiscation, ordered all landowners to pay a tax. Those who paid were given tax receipts and promised they should receive title deeds in due course.

These title deeds never were issued and on July 10, an ultimatum was issued, ordering everyone out of the district, as it was to be turned into a military zone. It was understood at that time that, as soon as the fortification of the zone was completed,

TWO FARMERS AND A COW

Taken To Soviet Territory

MANCHUKUO AFFAIR

Changchun, July 10.

A protest has been filed by the Foreign Office with the Soviet authorities against the reported illegal crossing of the Manchukuo frontier by Soviet troops and their abduction of two farmers.

According to belated reports reaching here to-day, two Soviet soldiers, fully armed, entered Manchukuo territory near Hsiao-chun, east of Lake Hanka on Saturday morning at about 9 o'clock, and attempted to carry away two Manchukuo farmers working in the vicinity. They were, however, discovered by Manchukuo frontier guards, who immediately went after the Soviet soldiers and succeeded in rescuing the farmers.

Shortly afterwards, about 20 Soviet troops again entered Manchukuo territory the report states. The Manchukuo frontier guards were compelled to fire on them.

Nearly an hour's fighting ensued between the two forces, after which the invaders returned to Soviet territory, carrying away with them the two farmers and a cow.

SILVER LININGS

After a visit lasting nearly nine months and embracing not only the principal treaty-ports of China but also (on two occasions) Tokyo, Sir Frederick Leith-Ross left the Far East. In a statement made in Shanghai before his departure he summarized his conclusions with regard to the financial and economic situation in China. The currency problems which were his chief concern he considers to have been handled boldly and with success by the Central Government, which is replacing silver by an inconvertible managed currency. Sir Frederick sees a growing confidence in the new notes, but observes that there are still loopholes in the fabric of a reform which was performed improvised as a more or less emergency measure. Both in the South and in the North the measure has been beset by political difficulties which were in some part its own involuntary creation. For example, the withdrawal of silver from circulation has played a minor role in bringing about the recent breach between Nanking and the South-Western Political Council. Nevertheless, Sir Frederick affirms his faith in the economic soundness of the new policy, with the proviso that its administration must be tightened up.

He cites two conditions on which China's financial future is dependent: the maintenance of peace and order in the interior and the settlement of what he diplomatically calls the "special situation" in the North. "On the first subject he does not dilate, though he might have mentioned the Communists, who will remain troublesome for some time to come. As regards North China Sir Frederick quotes assurances, which have been given him in Tokyo, that Japan's intentions towards China are strictly honourable; and wisely made no comment on these empty words. But his remarks show that he is alive to the danger to China—and of course to foreign commercial interests in China—of the implications behind the paralysis, effected or inspired by the Japanese, of the Maritime Customs service in Eastern Hopei. It is gratifying to learn that Chinese "exports are expanding" and the adverse balance of trade "has been greatly reduced"; but "Sir Frederick has done well to touch on difficulties governing the import trade, of which China's recent raising of the tariff rates is probably the most serious. Here he makes a telling point: The rise in rates protects the Chinese industrialist; but the industrialist benefits at the expense

INNER MONGOLIA INDEPENDENCE

Reported Formation Of Military Regime

RECRUITS FROM JEHOI

Peiping, July 10.

According to people arriving here, telegrams reporting the establishment of an independent military government of Inner Mongolia have been received in Kalgan.

Prince Teh, Vice-Chairman of the Inner Mongolian Local Autonomous Political Affairs Council in Peilienniao is head of the new independent government.

Mr. Pao Yueh-chin, representative of Prince Teh, who went to Jehoi some weeks ago, has recruited large numbers of Mongols for the organisation of a Mongolian Army.

It is reported that Mr. Pao has recruited 1,500 men during his visit to Jehoi and attempts will be made, again to recruit another 1,500 men. All the fighting weapons of these soldiers will be supplied by a certain country.

According to well-informed political circles, the new independent Mongolian Government has five departments, namely the department of General Affairs, of War, of Finance, of Foreign Affairs, and of Communications. In addition, there is a department of Secretariat.

Mr. Pao Yueh-chin, representative of Prince Teh, will be appointed Secretary-General of the new independent military government of Inner Mongolia.

of the farmer who represents, after all, three-quarters of the population. The prosperity of the people means the prosperity of the farmer, and the measure of China's prosperity must always be the purchasing power of this numerically dominant class. Even were this not so, the basis of the Central Government's credit is the Maritime Customs; and, as Sir Frederick says, "it is in the 'first interests of China' to 'adjust the tariff so as to secure 'the maximum revenue.'"

Of the opportunities for British enterprise and capital in China Sir Frederick speaks with tempered optimism. It is an open secret that foreign commercial interests are fighting a rearguard action in the Far East. The chronic difficulties of doing business in China are increasing but slowly; but they are increasing, and they are enhanced by the inability of all the European Governments to convince observers, whether Oriental or otherwise, that they either possess or could put into effect a policy in the Far East. Europe has lost face steadily for the last ten years—often through no fault of her own, but never without adversely affecting her own interests in China and Japan. The latter country has already, with impunity, kicked foreign interests through the Open Door in Manchuria; and a foretaste of what such interests may expect elsewhere on Chinese territory under Japanese control has been adequately indicated in North China within the last few weeks.

CHINA DELEGATES ASSEMBLE

MEETING IN GRAVE ATMOSPHERE

Little Optimism For Concrete Results

Nanking, July 10.

Although of purely formal nature, the proceedings of the Central Executive Committee opened this morning in an atmosphere of gravity and tension.

With police redoubting precaution against disturbances, about two hundred delegates from all parts of the country and even as far afield as the Philippines gathered early before the tomb of Dr. Sun Yat-sen where they performed the usual rites and then repaired to the party headquarters for election of the presidium.

The first regular sitting is scheduled for this afternoon, but the delegates are not expected to get a grip of real business until to-morrow.

In the meanwhile there have been lively unofficial discussions which express the deep anxiety of the delegates over recent events which brought China to the brink of civil war.—Reuter.

SOUTHWEST ABSENTEES

Nanking, July 10.

Much interest is centred in the position of General Yu Han-mow, Commander of the First Kwangtung Army, who is here to attend the session.

The absence of Generals Chen Chi-tang, Li Chung-jen and Pei Chung-hsi has undoubtedly robbed the session of much of its reality as the delegates from the Southwest are only reserve members of the C.E.C. without power to vote and as such must be regarded merely as observers.

FIVE PROPOSALS

It is hardly conceivable therefore that the five Southwest proposals (one of which urges declaration of war on Japan) will be endorsed by the Committee which is more likely to confine itself to somewhat vague decisions, the effect of which will be a general mandate to Nanking to continue efforts at reaching a settlement of the crisis by peaceful means.

On the other hand some quarters predict that the Central Government will be re-empowered to take more drastic measures "in the interests of national unity." Only most optimistic quarters hope for a concrete settlement of the differences.—Reuter.

SOUTHWEST TELEGRAM

Canton, July 10.

The Kuomintang Central Executive Committee and the Central Supervisory Committee members in the Southwest to-day despatched a telegram to the Second Plenary Session urging that the five proposals of the Southwest be discussed and adopted. The telegram reads as follows:—

In your Session to-day we entertain great hopes. The most fundamental of which is that you discuss in sincerity and pass our five proposals with regard to resistance to Japan and natural salvation; namely, first, immediate severance of diplomatic relations with Japan; second, abrogation of all derogatory agreements concluded with Japan since September 18, 1931; third, armed prevention of the increase of Japanese garrison in Peiping and Tientsin in contravention of the Boxer Protocol; fourth, protection of patriotic speech and revival of people's patriotic movements; and fifth, mobilization of the entire country for resistance to Japan under the leadership of the Central Government.—Central News.

CHIANG'S HOPE

Nanking, July 10.

General Chiang Kai-shek presided at the ceremony at Sun Yat-sen mausoleum this morning, expressing the hope that the delegates will discuss problems with sincerity and face the country's crisis.

The preparatory session elected Chen Li-fu and Ting Chao-wu to head the committee to examine proposals on Kuomintang affairs, Ho Ying-ching and Chu Pei-teh on military affairs, H. H. Kung and T. V. Soong on financial affairs, Wang Shih-chieh on educational affairs, and Chang Chun on foreign affairs. The regular session of the meeting will be held to-morrow at 9 a.m.

The Southwest delegates participated in to-day's session. Unless unforeseen circumstances necessitate a change in the agenda, it is learned that the session will last not more than five days.—Reuter.

JAPANESE UNITS ON PARADE

Display In Tientsin Chinese City

Tientsin, July 10.

Japanese garrison units paraded in the main streets of the Chinese city to-day, headed by officers with maps in hand, travelling in motor cycles and sidecars, followed by three light tanks and military trucks filled with soldiers carrying rifles with fixed bayonets. The parade lasted three hours. There were no incidents.—Reuter.

OPENING CEREMONY

Nanking, July 10.

A brief ceremony marked the opening of the C.E.C. session. No meeting will be held this afternoon. While no official announcement has been made, it is believed the first regular session will be held to-morrow morning.

The entire delegation visited the Sun Yat-sen Mausoleum at 6 a.m. to-day to pay respects to the late founder of reform in China.

The preparatory session of the Conference began at 8 a.m. at the Central Kuomintang headquarters under the chairmanship of Mr. Ting Wei-feng.

A presidium consisting of nine prominent members, who are also members of the standing committee of the C.E.C., was elected, these including General Chiang Kai-shek, Mr. Ting Wei-feng, Mr. Yu Yu-jen and General Chu Cheng.

Mr. Yeh Chu-chang, Secretary-General of the Kuomintang, was elected Secretary-General of the conference. It is announced that all proposals to be submitted for discussion must be handed in to the secretariat before to-morrow.—Reuter.

APPEAL TO SOUTH

Nanking, July 10.

It is learned that on the eve of the Kuomintang conference, the Nanking Press Association and other bodies telephonically appealed to General Chan Chi-tang, General Li Chung-jen and General Pei Chung-hsi to personally attend the session.—Reuter.

DELEGATES GREETED

Nanking, July 10.

Five South-Western delegates to the Plenary Session of the C.E.C. of the Kuomintang Party, arrived here early this morning and were greeted by a large gathering of high officials.

Mr. Huang Lin-shu, one of the members of the delegation who went to Soochow on Thursday afternoon to visit friends, joined the train there and arrived with the others.

To-day's arrivals include Mr. Yang Yung-tai, General Ho Ching, General Hsiung Shih-hui, and General Shang Chen, who are the respective Governors of Hupeh, Hunan, Kiangsi and Honan.

On the eve of the opening of the session, the authorities have issued an order forbidding public demonstrations or the sending of large delegations to the Conference to submit petitions. All proposals must be made in writing through the Secretariat, but if a delegation is sent instead, it must not exceed ten persons.

Violators of these rules will be liable to punishment.—Reuter.

UNRESTRICTED RULERS OF THE STRAITS

Turkey's Claims To Security

RECOGNITION BY OTHER STATES DEMANDED

Press Hint To Montreux Delegations

(“Hong Kong Daily Press” Special)

Istanbul, July 10.

“The Turks must be the sole and unrestricted rulers of the Straits,” declares the newspaper “Cumhuriyet” in a leading article which informed quarters believe to have been inspired by Mustapha Kemal Ataturk himself.

The article continues to stress that the Straits signify Turkey's independence. The Turks do not dream of closing this important economic waterway to international traffic. But the Turks demand that the correctness of their attitude should be recognised by the other States and that satisfaction should be accorded to their just claims to security.

The article, which is interpreted as a warning by the Turkish Government to the Montreux Conference not to delay its decision owing to divergences between Britain and Soviet Russia, is attracting widespread attention here.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN DIFFERENCES

Montreux, July 9.

The British-Russian divergences on the Dardanelles Conference again dominated the proceedings and no progress was made on the agreement of the British Draft Agreement throughout Thursday.

It was finally decided to leave Clause XIV—which is the stumbling block—out of the discussion for the time being.

The crucial point of the day was the question whether Turkey should be allowed to retain the consent of the League of Nations first before closing the Dardanelles, and also as proposed by Britain, whether the Dardanelles Commission should be retained.

The question of the League of Nations function was postponed at the Japanese Delegate's request, because he had not yet received definite instruction from Tokyo. That the Commission should be retained was supported only by Britain, while most of the other delegates favoured the Turkish view that the Commission be abolished.

NEW DEADLOCK

Montreux, July 9.

Following yesterday's deliberations, the Dardanelles conference decided to hold over the thorny question of the rights of battle-ships to enter or leave the straits in wartime.

A new deadlock, however, developed to-day on the British proposal to retain the straits Commission of Control. Turkey objected to this suggestion, on the ground that it was against her national prestige. All the Balkan States supported her. Russia was silent. France alone supported Britain.

Turkey suggested some arrangement whereby the Consular body should replace the commission.

LIBERAL PARTY CONGRESS

Politics Discussed In Bucharest

(“Hong Kong Daily Press” Special)

Bucharest, July 9.

More than usual interest is attached to the meeting of the Congress of the Liberal Party, because it is a mark of termination of the strained relations between the Party Leader, Bratianu and Premier Tataru. Both statesmen spoke, stressing the monarchist principles of the Liberal Party.

Emphasising Roumania's growing importance in Eastern European affairs, Bratianu advocated a vigorous armament policy, so that Roumania might “enjoy the confidence of her allies and be respected by her former enemies.” Under no circumstances would Roumania separate itself from the states with which it was allied.

The speaker summed up the party's policies regarding raw materials and economics in the words: “Roumania for the Roumanians.”

Enlarging on the remarks of Bratianu concerning foreign politics Tataru said that the recent meeting in Bucharest of the heads of the three Little Entente countries was an event of marked importance.

SOVIET POLICY CRITICISED

Armed Dictatorship In France

TRYING FOR FREE HAND IN EAST

(“Hong Kong Daily Press” Special)

Paris, July 10.

The first propaganda meeting of the French People's Party recently founded by the former Communist Deputy and Mayor of Paris suburb St. Denis, M. Doriot, was attended by no fewer than 10,000 persons.

Addressing the assembly Doriot severely criticised the foreign policy of the Soviet Union which, he declared, was aiming to obtain a free hand in the East by involving France in a war with Germany.

Doriot, who declared that he as a former war combatant refused to fight a war for another people, moreover asserted that Soviet Russia was striving to establish an armed dictatorship in France at the first opportunity and pointed out that the aim of the party founded by himself was to block the way to Bolshevism, draw the workers' attention to the threatened dangers and hold them back from the road on to which they were being lured.

The large crowd enthusiastically acclaimed Doriot at the conclusion of the meeting by singing the Marseillaise.

OPPOSITION IN DANZIG

Senate President's Statement

(“Hong Kong Daily Press” Special)

Danzig, July 9.

An important statement, affecting the future of the opposition parties in Danzig was made by the president of the Senate, Dr. Greiser, on Thursday. To the question whether the opposition parties would be dissolved or prohibited, Dr. Greiser declared that measures within the prescribed limits of the law would be taken, should reasons affecting the safety of the State make such a procedure necessary. The publication of the opposition newspaper, the “Danziger Nationalzeitung,” was prohibited for a period of five months by the President of the Police on Thursday.

The official statement says that the paper's principle aims were to defame the Third Reich and its statesmen, and it had not hesitated to accuse the Fuehrer, Herr Hitler of dishonourable conduct. Therefore in the interests of public safety and order it was necessary to prohibit further publications.

KING'S CUP AIR RACE

Bad Conditions For Flying

ELIMINATING HEATS

London, July 10.

In bad flying conditions of drizzling rain, poor visibility and low clouds, 28 competitors in the annual race for the King's Cup set off at half minute intervals from Hatfield aerodrome this morning. To-day's event was the eliminating race over a course of 1,224 miles consisting of two circuits of the route covering part of the Midlands and South England.

Competitors started in order of their time allowance, the scratch machine and first to leave being the Duke of York's Percival New Gull piloted by its designer, Capt. Percival, which is capable of over 200 miles an hour. Only woman pilot in race is Mrs. Amy Molison. The machines are divided into three classes—those of less than 150 horse power and those with more than 150 horse power and multi-engine aeroplanes.

To-day's eliminating heats are scratch races which should ensure that the fastest aeroplanes and best pilots will reach the final. This will be flown under handicaps to-morrow and will consist of 12 laps of a short course, a total distance of about 312 miles.

Several pilots carried passengers, one of whom accompanied Lieut. Bonham Carter in his Miles Hawk. All planes were away in 13 minutes flying low to keep below clouds.

STRONG BRITISH FORCES

Great Stabilising Influence

URGENT NEED FOR THE WORLD

London, July 10.

Commenting on the British measures of rearmament and supplementary defence estimates published yesterday, “the Times” says it is neither the wish nor the duty of the British peoples to act as policemen of the world or take upon themselves individual responsibility for prevention of wars or aggression wherever they may threaten.

But it is both the wish and duty of Britain to take its full share in resistance to the rule of naked force and whether or not the collective system can be made to accomplish all that has been hoped from it, there is no doubt that strong British forces are a stabilising influence in a disturbed world.

Their strength threatens to legitimate foreign interest, but their weakness may well be an invitation to world-wide disturbances of peace.

The restoration of British forces is an urgent need no less for the world at large than for the British Empire itself, and it must be a matter for general satisfaction that the need is clearly and practically recognised by the Government.

PEACEFUL PEOPLE

London, July 10.

The “Morning Post” comments that the “British people are most pacifically minded in Europe. Their resources are great, probably greater if it came to a test of strength than those of any other country in Europe, but so far they have neglected to make proper use of them for strengthening their defences. The strengthening of those defences now will be a salutary and timely reminder to other nations that peaceful as they are they have no intention of suffering or permitting any aggression that would affect their interests. It will also make them an ally worth having on the side of peace in Europe.”

Live fish will have a novel experience of travelling through the air above their native element when the liner Hindenburg crosses the Atlantic ocean during a voyage to Lakehurst, New Jersey, which commences on Friday evening.

The fish in question are destined for American fanciers who evidently calculated that the delicate and exotic marine dwellers stand a better chance of surviving a short air journey rather than a long steamer voyage.

FRANCE WITHDRAWS GUARANTEE

NAVAL ASSISTANCE IN THE MEDITERRANEAN

King Approves Raising Of Sanctions

London, July 10.

Following steps taken by Britain to reduce the British Naval strength in the Mediterranean, France withdrew her guarantee of assistance to Britain in case of war while carrying out the League obligations. As sanctions will be lifted, France's guarantee is therefore unnecessary. However, guarantees still exist with Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey.

At a meeting of the Privy Council in Buckingham Palace this morning at which only four Privy Counsellors attended, the King approved the raising of sanctions against Italy. Similar measures have been adopted by other countries.

BELGIAN DECISION

Brussels, July 9.

The raising of sanctions against Italy was “justified as the only possible policy by M. Paul van Zeeland, the Prime Minister, defending his conduct as President of the League Assembly before the Senate to-day.

M. van Zeeland said that if sanctions had not been ended it would have meant the end of the League of Nations.

“The forces that threaten us are so great and so near that we are terribly anxious, especially in Belgium.”

The Senate passed a vote of confidence in the Government by 122 to 10.

BRITISH FLEET WITHDRAWAL

China Station To Be Strengthened

CUMBERLAND NOW MODERNISED

London, July 10.

It is understood that the cruisers Berwick and Adventure and the submarines Oswald, Osiris, Pandora and Proteus, released from special duty in the Mediterranean, and four “D” Class destroyers from Aden will immediately rejoin the China Fleet which will henceforward be kept at full strength and possibly slightly increased.

The Cumberland is completely modernised at a cost of £316,000 and her outward appearance is strikingly modified. She proceeds to China in September, replacing the Cornwall due here on July 14.

A picturesque detail of the general rearrangement is that Australia will have the first sight of her own cruiser, the Sydney, which has been held up since her launching by the emergency in the Mediterranean.

Acceleration of the British defence programme is expected to have a steady effect on the continent.

With reference to expense, it is pointed out that the Budget allowed £25,800,000 supplementary for defence. Hence the new bill involves only £4,400,000 beyond what was expected. All this was spent within the country and much of it will return to the Treasury in extra yield of taxation and reduced costs of unemployment.

CHAMPIONS' STIFF TASK TO-DAY

Chances Of Annexing The Championship

LAST WEEK'S GAMES REVIEWED

(BY "SHORT HEAD")

By their victory over the redoubtable Recreio last week, Craigengower C. C. "A" enhanced their chances of being the Senior League Champions for the third year in succession. Their feat was all the more creditable as this was the first occasion they have won against the Portuguese while playing away.

Their display last week was a good indication of their standard of play, and but for the fact that Dr. Atienza was right off his form, Luz's rink would undoubtedly have been on the credit side also. As it was, only two of the three rinks won, while F.X.M. da Silva's four was one shot to the good against Luz's quartette.

IMPROVED FORMS DISPLAYED

The Champions did not field the same team as of a week ago, due to several players being on the sick list. Games who was Omar's regular lead was No. 2 on that day, Summons taking over the No. 1 berth. Dr. Atienza was transferred to the No. 2 position in Luz's rink and A. M. Omar from their "B" team joined Basa's four as No. 2.

The game between Luz and F. X. Silva was very evenly matched with Silva scoring on the last three heads to win by a single shot. Silva, Luz, Coates and J. J. Basto were in good form.

On the second green C. G. Silva and his men were 24 shots to four down against U. M. Omar, but they scored eight shots on the last four heads to lose by 24-12. U. M. Omar and D. Rumjahn were in deadly form and sent down some excellent shots. Noronha as lead for Silva also did well while Gomes tied his own very well against the interporter.

Basa's win over Alves was rather a surprise, but to do this, Basa must thank J. S. Landolt and A. M. Omar his lead and No. 2 for his win. These two players were playing excellent bowls and sent down some perfect counters. Dick Alves was also in deadly form and saved his side from numerous hit counts. Basa also played a fair game but at times was very short.

FIRST WIN

Their first win of the season, and that from the Indians—is indeed a creditable performance for the Kowloon Dockers when they were in such irresistible form that they ran out winners by 23 shots. All three rinks were on the credit side and the skips must feel elated by their victories especially H. G. Cooper who won from the Indians' strongest rink skipped by A. R. Dallah.

J. McKelvie accounted for A. R. Minu's rink by 10 shots. Minu was playing a poor game, and although well backed up by his men he was unable to make good use of the woods when well placed. On the other hand, J. V. Ramsay playing No. 3 to McKelvie was a tower of strength on the winner's side, and though the youthful A. R. Abbas was not quite outclassed, Ramsay more or less had the better of the exchanges over him. In the other game F. Cullen's four won by seven shots against Adal's rink.

And but for the display of J. Hollidge's four the Kowloon Bowling Green would have found themselves on the debit side after their game with the Civil Servants, as it was they emerged victors by seven shots, thanks to A. M. Holland's four's win of 13 shots over Hollidge's rink.

J. F. Macgowan's quartette put up an excellent show against R. Duncan's four and won by 10 shots. In this game the Civil Servants were playing well right from the start and their victory was well earned. There were several players who excelled and Gallely in particular was responsible for laying some good woods.

A rare tussle was seen when F. J. Jones's rink went down to L. Guy's four by four shots. It was indeed a stroke of bad luck on the part of the losers, who for more than 15 heads, easily held their own. The truth, in fact, was the consistent bowling of Guy that won the day, and though beaten by four shots all eight players had their thrills and chills.

INDIFFERENT DISPLAY

W. Gill's display for the C.C.C. "B" against the Talkoo Dock nearly lost the Valley team two points. Gill was playing bowls of a standard well below the Junior League, and his deliveries were in fact never well directed. He was absolutely right off his form, and were it not for the fact that W. K. Way's rink was in such deadly form the result of that match would have been the reverse.

Way and his men were playing inspired bowls to win from N. Drummond's four by 16 shots. All our of the winners' rink with the exception of H. W. Randall were playing well up to form and their victory was well deserved. Gill's lethargic display was responsible for his men not being in the right mood, so much so that they lost by 13 shots.

A very evenly matched game was witnessed when W. V. Field's four and J. C. Chalmers' rink battled to a standstill at 20 shots all. In this game Field played a real skip's part and was more than instrumental in sharing Honours. He was right on form and did all that was asked or expected of him. Chalmers too was also in good mood and with the aid of his men more than held his own against Field. The result was certainly a fair reflection of the play.

K.C.C. SURPRISED

The Police created quite a minor surprise when they beat the K.C.C. by three shots. Both Hyde-Lay's and Bebbington's rinks were off colour and were it not for Fraser's quartette the K.C.C. would doubtless have gone down heavier.

Hyde-Lay's rink was up during the earlier heads and after tea they played badly, with the result that Mair's men gradually mastered the situation and turned the tables on their opponents by a margin of five shots. The same was true with Bebbington's rink. Although leading quite comfortably they were unable to stay the pace, and after tea was taken fell away badly and lost by eight shots. It must be said however, that Hollands was well supported by his men which was the opposite in the loser's rink.

The best rink on view was Fraser's four when they trounced S. Logan's quartette by 10 shots. The winners in the match played inspired bowls and Gittins in No. 1 came in for his share of the play, being heads and shoulders above his team mates. For the Police Shepherd was outstanding and so was Glendenning, and although Gittins had the better of him in several of their duels he was beaten but not disgraced.

THE GAME OF THE DAY

All eyes will be focussed on the game between the C.C.C. "A" and the Kowloon Bowling Green to-day. A win for the Valley team will undoubtedly put them on the top of the map for the Senior honours. They are at present four points ahead of their rival with the same number of games played. In this match much will depend on A. M. Holland. Should he strike form, the Valley team will have to be up and about to offset the brilliant bowling that is sure to come.

The respective skips are all well matched. In U. M. Omar, R. F. da Luz and R. Basa the C.C.C. "A" have three good men and should the same support from their men are forthcoming to-day, they will have no fear as to the ultimate outcome of the issue.

Bowling Green on the other hand can boast of the same thing. Adam Holland, R. Duncan and L. Guy can easily hold their own against the Colony's best, and should they play consistent bowls, a rare tussle is in sight for bowls enthusiasts. I fancy the Valley team to win, not that they are potential Champions, but because they have been showing improved form of late, and playing at home is also quite an asset.

Will the Indians be able to wake up from the slumber? To-day may be able to tell. Such standard of bowls as displayed by the Indians defy my imagination. Earlier in the season I was amazed at their vastly improved displays week in and week out, and the positional changes which they made in the team seemed to have had the required effect. Lately they have gone from bad to worse, and even their stalwart A. R. Dallah is not showing the same form of the earlier season. What is the reason underlying all this sudden change? Is it their inability to find the right combination to suit the temperamental players? Why not give the players a chance to have their say and let them play, for once, in their desired positions? Perhaps this may solve their problem.

To-day they are up against the greatly improved Civil Servants at home. Should Jones and MacGowan find themselves in form the Indians will take a lot of shaking to leave the rinks skipped by these two men behind. It should be an interesting game and if the Indians are able to concentrate on the bowls and not on other matters I believe they should be able to do so.

RECREIO'S INDIFFERENCE

Recreio's indifferent displays of late have somewhat changed my views of the potentialities of the team. Take last week's game for instance. There was only one rink that was playing up to standard, and even C. G. Silva was unable to do much. Their game to-day against the Police will not be a runaway affair. The Policemen will be able to offer them opposition, and opposition they will get. I think despite the Recreio's present low form they will gather in two points.

Kowloon Cricket Club should be able to annex another two points at the expense of the Talkoo Dock. The Dockers are at present occupying the bottom of the table with the Kowloon Dock and I do not believe that they will be able to spring a surprise on the Mainland team despite the fact that they are playing at home.

On paper and on form the teams are very evenly matched, but the K.C.C.'s consistency throughout this season will stand them in good stead. Graig, Hyde Lay and Fraser will find plenty of opposition from Chalmers, Wallace and Drummond, and come what may the game will be keenly contested.

C.C.C. "B" will find the Kowloon Dockers a hard nut to crack judging from the latter's display last week. They played superior bowls against the Indians and with this in mind they will go all out to clinch victory.

There are several changes made in the Valley team. J. Pau is being brought in as No. 1 to Way's rink with Randall being transferred as No. 3 to Gill. If the Valley team intend to win they will have to play better bowls to do so, failing which the result will be in favour of the Dockers.

MRS. BALDWIN PUSHES A CRUISER

Incident At Launch Cheered

London, June 24. The seventh British warship to bear the name Glasgow was launched yesterday by Mrs. Stanley Baldwin at Glasgow.

The cruiser began to move down the slipway so slowly that Mrs. Baldwin, in an endeavour to accelerate its pace, stepped forward on the launching platform and pushed the sharp prow of the vessel with all her might. Her act was cheered by a large crowd.

The launch was viewed from a yacht in the Firth of Clyde by H.M. Selassie, the Negus, who was seeing such a spectacle for the first time.

H.M.S. Glasgow was laid down in April last year, and her speed, when in commission, will be thirty-two knots.

After the launch Mrs. Baldwin left by fast car for Wishaw, Lanarkshire, where the Prime Minister was addressing a mass demonstration.

The Negus, who is the guest of Lord Inverclyde at Wemyss Castle, also witnessed yachting regattas on Clydeside. He will return to London to-morrow.

Pui Ching Stars Depart

(By "BLEACHER")

The addition of the U.S.S. Tulsa nine into the local baseball league will prove a most formidable foe to the other eight teams.

The Tulsa will play a double-header this afternoon at Causeway Bay, beginning at 2.15, against the Overseas Chinese. This should prove to be a well played game, although the odds are all for the sailors to win.

The Tulsa battery will be Fox and Porter. The rest of the line up will be as follows:

Mealer—1b
Curtis—2b
Jolly—3b
Wood—ss
Helm—lf
Krommenhoek—cf
Svake—rf

Although the Overseas nine will be without the services of Joe Yee and Gabriel Lau, they fully intend to extend the Americans to the limit. A win for the former would be sweet because of their defeat in an exhibition game two weeks ago.

The Overseas will open the game with:

H. Ching—p
Fung—c
L. Ching—1b
B. S. Ching—2b
Kau—3b
W. Ching—ss
Chap—lf
C. S. Chung—cf
Moe—rf

TULSA V. EASTERN

The other game of the double-header will be against the Eastern A.C. following the close of the first game. The sailors should take the Eastern lads to camp easily if they use their first string line-up. However, the Eastern boys have had very little real baseball playing, but should improve considerably with continued practice.

AMERICAN V. JAPANESE

The first game on schedule on Sunday morning at 9.30 will be played between the local Americans and the Japanese nine. The latter have had regular baseball practice, and should come out victorious in this game.

The fact that the Americans have added three new men to the team, however, might strengthen their game. Thomson will start the pitching, with Allen behind the bat. With the change in positions the rest of the line up will be:

Hearther—1b
Church—2b
Williams—3b
Mayhew—ss
Howard—lf
Barros—cf
Rogers—rf

The Japanese will use the same line up as last Sunday's game with Pui Ching.

CANADIAN V. VOLUNTEER

With the loss of Dreany, the Canadians will have a pretty difficult time from now on in the league, and with the surprising improvement of the Volunteer nine the latter should win this game. The Volunteer battery of "Lefty" Joe Bowen, and Wingles has proved a very good one for beginners and, with the help of the fielders, should be instrumental in winning this game. Muir will begin pitching for the Canadians, with Walker catching.

Kim was, by far, the best short stop in the Colony, having played considerable baseball in the past in fast company. Besides being a fast pitcher, King was the best-hitter in the Hong Kong league. They will be very much missed by their team mates, and the baseball players of the Colony are sorry to see them go, although they are speeded on their way with heartfelt good wishes.
